

Top it off with Elfverson!

Creating a high class product

*How can you convey the good taste without offering the content?
Everyone who markets spirits has given this question some thought.*

The answer is, of course, nice packaging.

A relatively inexpensive and easy way is to enhance the package with a wooden topped cork.

*A wooden top gives the cork weight and makes it exclusive.
Elfverson can help you with a unique design, emboss, polish and lacquer the top to your needs and satisfaction.*

Wood conveys quality

Take a wooden topped stopper in your hand and compare it to one in plastic. The difference is noticeable.

A wooden top gives you a feeling of quality and harmony.

Wood is a living material. If you let the grain show, it will give life to your bottle, inspiring tradition and quality.

The wood is chosen with utmost care. Only the best raw material is good enough. It shows in the end product. Elfverson delivers wooden tops of the best quality.

A unique design for you

Elfverson has produced over 50 million wooden tops for many of the world's most prestigious brands. Our specialty is manufacturing tops that have been exclusively designed for the customer.

A stopper has to be more than beautiful. It has to be functional and meet today's requirements. Our tops do that with a unique and practical design.

The tops can be glued to a number of materials such as natural or synthetic cork and even plastic screw caps.

Nice design is good business

Often the eye makes the choice and it does not matter how good the content is, if the packaging is not appealing. An attractively packaged product will increase sales and create good will.

The competition on the market is tough. There are hundreds, if not thousands, of producers making virtually equal products. However, a nicely designed package has an advantage that can mean good business.

Let us introduce you to Elfverson

Our company was established over one hundred years ago and we have been supplying the liquor industry with wooden tops since 1913 and the tops can be found worldwide.

Besides manufacturing quality wood products Elfverson provides you with logistics, adequate and timely supply which comes from experience and understanding your industry.

Next time you need to design the packaging for a new product, we at Elfverson are at your service.

Elfverson | Industrigatan 6 | 388 50 Päråd | Sweden | +46 480 44 36 30 | www.elfverson.se

